Scottish Housing Day 2019 – Housing and Human Rights Workshop

About this workshop

CIH Scotland is pleased to introduce a new human rights and housing project which is being used to inform this year's Scottish Housing Day which takes place on 18 September 2019.

The project has been launched to examine some fundamental questions about the role and purpose of human rights and housing and to explore whether tenants and home owners require greater legal protection to ensure they have a safe, warm, affordable home in a place they want to live.

As part of the project, we want people who live, work or otherwise have an interest in housing or human rights to take part in a free workshop which gives people the chance to explore these key questions.

Date and location

The workshop will take place on Wednesday 5 June 2019 from 10:30 to 12:00 at the CIH Scotland office, Hayweight House, 23 Lauriston Street, Edinburgh, EH3 9DQ.

Booking information

Places for this workshop are free but limited and will be allocated on a first come, first served basis. If you would like to attend, please email scotland.contact@cih.org

The workshop will last no longer than an hour and a half and the format will be an informal group exercise which allows you to get involved in brainstorming the answers to a series of questions.

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact us on 0131 225 4544 or by emailing scotland.contact@cih.org

Online survey

If you are interested in attending this workshop, please also take the time to complete our short online survey on the issue of human rights and housing. Take the survey here.
